10:57:32 From Frezer Yeheyis Tsegaye to Everyone:
Multilateralism should be ambassador for justice and should respect the principle of leaving no one behind. I believe there should be support for countries to recognize and mainstream the newly adopted resolutions at UNEA 10:58:06 From ChangJi Shi to Everyone:
hello, CJ from Vancouver Canada

Nayah epse Lekunze Celine Tayem from Cameroon
11:04:10 From Prof. Maria Ivanova, UMass Boston to Everyone:

Thank you all, we have 90 participants now! Would love to engage as many as possible

11:04:13 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

multilateralism is a covenant we should adopt as a norm ,policy and a system of practice to achieve our aims collective with differentiation respected socio and environmental arena's...it awakens the power of diplomacy and collaboration...

11:04:27 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

amongst nations

11:04:28 From Alphonse Muia to Everyone:

Thanks Maria.I would be glad to.

11:05:56 From CHANDELLE O'NEIL to Hosts and panelists:

i may have missed it -are there any black or people of African descent speakers??

11:06:22 From Frezer Yeheyis Tsegaye to Everyone:

I know it is really hard not to politicize natural resources specially if they are shared . The only way to deal with any unprecedented conflict can be through fair and just based utilization of natural resources and develop mechanisms to solve related issues.

11:07:21 From Charles Nouhan to Frezer Yeheyis Tsegaye and all panelists:

Dr. Philip Osano was meant to join us, but he was delayed by a cancelled air flight, so cannot after all.

11:07:34 From CHANDELLE O'NEIL to Hosts and panelists:

I ask because Kenya is co-chair, right??

11:07:51 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

Environment justice is very key and the need to embrace new ways of doing things especially, the decommissioning of fossil fuel industries and policies like circularity.

11:08:29 From Narges Saffar, Iran to Hosts and panelists:

Human beings are members of a whole

In the creation of one essence and soul

If one member is afflicted with pain

Other members uneasy will remain

"Poem by Saadi, a seventh-century Iranian poet"

11:08:37 From Prof. Maria Ivanova, UMass Boston to Everyone:

Yes, Philip just got stuck in an airport strike and is now on an airplane. He is sorry to miss this event indeed 11:08:39 From Bryan Lepish to Everyone:

Am really grateful that today dialogue is championed with women.

Congratulations for the insightful knowledge and wisdom that I am gaining at the moment. Bryan from Kenya. Daystar university student

11:09:34 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

we also agreed on frameworks to implementation them .like the Paris Agreement

11:10:14 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

implementation are very good ,but we need to codify it

11:10:26 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

and institutionalist them

11:10:34 From CHANDELLE O'NEIL to Everyone:
seems like black people are being excluded...

11:10:50 From Chris Obi to Everyone:
so it will be as norms and practices

11:10:52 From Prof. Maria Ivanova, UMass Boston to Everyone:
@chanelle - excluded from what?

11:11:35 From Charles Nouhan to Everyone:
Dear Attendees...please feel free to put questions in the Q&A box, not the Chat box. Thank you.

11:13:19 From Onuora Damian Udegbumam to Everyone:
For me, I think a lot of people who are interested in Environmental issues are excluded because they lack access to connect with key players in Environmental sustainability

11:13:35 From Chris Obi to Everyone:
Shereen your right when you mention the whole problems.

11:13:55 From Frezer Yeheyis Tsegaye to Everyone:
Yes , we need multisectoral integrated solutions , I echo my sister Shereen

11:14:17 From Githinji Kamotho to Everyone:
@chanelle kindly rephrase your comment, we have people of Africa origin. thank you.

11:14:55 From Chris Obi to Everyone:
we need evolve your right Shereen 🙏

11:15:03 From Edmond B Margai to Everyone:
Hello everyone I'm Edmond Margai joining from Sierra Leone

11:15:52 From Nayah Lekunze to Everyone:
Thanks so much Shereen .
implementation is the real key as you have rightly said.

11:17:18 From Chris Obi to Everyone:
Many thanks Organisers all the panelists (Ladies) are well resources

11:19:21 From Frezer Yeheyis Tsegaye to Everyone:
The need to engage and build the capacity of Civil society organizations in realization of prioritizing public interest should be taken to consideration when talking about multilateralism.

11:19:41 From Gabriela Liendo to Everyone:
Good Morning! I am attending from La Paz, Bolivia and I am glad to be here. I want to share with you the necessity to include young people and give them more opportunities to their real an innovative Green Business (circular economy)

11:24:55 From Chris Obi to Everyone:
Narges good explanation

11:26:56 From Meg Hassey to Everyone:
The governance actors identified in the chat civil society, youth people, the business and science communities need to work in an integrated way with governments. We explore the roles of actors in environmental multilateral every day. As an academic institution, we dig into these challenges. Here is our website. We would love to discuss your ideas. <https://www.environmentalgovernance.org/>

11:27:38 From Meg Hassey to Everyone:

@cgs_umb on twitter

11:30:23 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

yes international committees need to uphold there committed on finances, like the 100b climate fund...

11:32:40 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

Carmen great one

11:34:45 From CHANDELLE O'NEIL to Everyone:

Apologies for the confusion- it was more of a reference to the brown paper bag test that is used to keep certain groups excluded

11:35:28 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

how about west Africa...?

11:38:10 From Nayah Lekunze to Everyone:

Thank God my Country is trying had and need's more support

11:41:30 From Chris Obi to Everyone:

please would this session be recorded?

11:41:50 From Baheya Amr to Everyone:

The Arab Network for Environment and Development - RAED is a regional network with more than 350 NGO members from 17 Arab countries in North Africa and West Asia. The main mandate of RAED is to develop the capacities of its members aiming to increase their involvement and to act as main partners among concerned stakeholders on the national and regional levels. Our team wishes to voluntarily enhance the activities you request in order to reach as many civil society organizations as possible and that the voices be heard in the Arab region. As well as disseminating the news, newsletters and actions needed to be of help to our mother earth.

Carmen, Innovation for reaching plastic resolution goals, is progressive.

12:12:34 From Kong Mukwele Sheila to Everyone:
Multilaterism could be sustained and enhanced through regional and bilateral approach of cooperation. This I believe would also better showcase the community interests approach that better integrates the needs of communities and populations as they vary in time an places.

12:12:42 From Lori Johnston to Hosts and panelists:
participatory governance

12:12:53 From Prof. Maria Ivanova, UMass Boston to Everyone:
To the panel and to all - what would you suggest governments, academics, NGOs, businesses, citizens or others can do to deliver on the vision for new multilateralism

12:15:08 From Kossi Samye to Everyone:
Good

12:15:42 From Narges Saffar, Iran to Everyone:
@Maria Changing attitudes in decision-making, and the real involvement of all stakeholders, including civil society, academics, etc.

12:16:37 From Prof. Maria Ivanova, UMass Boston to Everyone:
@Narges - excellent! Now we need to find the actors to lead that change

12:19:47 From Lori Johnston to Everyone:
it sounds like UNEP should implement IPCC recommendations for decentralization to ease administrative burdens on States.

12:20:42 From Meg Hassey to Everyone:

If you are interested in digging into the challenges identified in this discussion and more about environmental IPCC multilateralism, join us at the Global Governance and Human Security Program at UMass Boston. global.umb.edu
